CRASH.
A negro boy was killed in Clarksville Tuesday by a runaway. The mule was attached to a wagon he was driving, became frightened and ran off, upsetting the wagon and throwing the boy against a tree.

In a fire at Brainerd, Minn., two children were burned to death, their father as badly burned he may not recover, and the mother escaped by jumping from a second-story window with a baby in her arms.

A fight of long standing between two factions of city boys in Erie, Pa., was settled by a fight last Monday. There were fifteen engaged in the stake, and were badly scratched and a number of others badly hurt.

Stephen Daily, a seventy-year-old man in South Carolina, has confessed to the killing of three wives. His first wife, killed with a club, second with a knife, and the third with an axe, he stated she was unfaithful.

A mob took three prisoners from the Charleston, Miss., jail and killed two of them with bullets. The third, a negro, was freed by a mob of negroes on suspicion of attempting to kill a white man.

Justice Kenehan, Arkansas, suddenly became insane on last Tuesday. At his residence a state of mind took hold of him, and he killed his wife and two children with a revolver. He was arrested on the spot.

A ten-year-old boy in St. Joseph's Home, Jersey City, and a girl, aged four, were killed by a mob of negroes who entered the home and shot them. The boy was killed on the spot, the girl was taken to the hospital.

A woman at Ohio, Ill., gathered her two young children about her, and they stood in front of a white mob. She placed the weapons against her throat and fired. The children fled from the house. A negro hearing the shot rushed in and found her lifeless, a second bullet having been fired into her back.

Afternoon Robert Shannon, a colored man, was shot and killed by a mob of white men near Mt. Vernon, Mo. He was found his wife, a married man named without a word said.

Without a word said, a mob of white men shot and killed a colored man near Hampton, Va. He was found his wife, a married man named without a word said.

more the book, which was my own making. I pulled and tugged at it without avail. The perpetrator fled from my room, my heart almost bursting with rage. I followed him to the street, and he fled. A few days later he was found dead. After the funeral, I was left alone. I had no more to say.

How long I remained so I can not tell. I had no more to say. I had no more to say. I had no more to say. I had no more to say. I had no more to say.

By an effort I could not make, I got up. I had no more to say. I had no more to say. I had no more to say. I had no more to say. I had no more to say.

I would not say that I was cured. I would not say that I was cured. I would not say that I was cured. I would not say that I was cured. I would not say that I was cured.

150 Handsome and Useful Presents!
ABSOLUTELY GIVEN AWAY!

The people of Hopkinsville and surrounding country have accorded us such a nice reception and such good support that we feel grateful to them and wish to express our gratitude in a practical way. We have had awake at night trying to devise some plan by which we could give voice to our feelings without offense to our customers, and

This is How We Propose to do it:

Beginning Monday, December 5th, and continuing every day thereafter until Saturday, December 23rd, 1887, each and every customer who makes a purchase will be presented with a ticket, plainly numbered, a privilege of which will be placed in a locked box.

On Monday, January 2nd, 1888,

This box, after a thorough shuffling, will be opened in the presence of prominent citizens of Hopkinsville, and a boy, blindfolded, will take therefrom One Hundred and Fifty Tickets. The first ticket drawn (no matter whether it be 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, or any other number) will entitle the holder to present No. 1. If the second ticket drawn is a number 2, and so on down to No. 150. Presents can be seen now in our display window each one plainly designated by a number.

Customers making purchases of one dollar will receive one ticket, two dollars or more two tickets, three dollars or more three tickets—in other words, we give you a ticket with every purchase, and should that purchase exceed one dollar you will be presented with an extra ticket for each additional dollar which you spend with us. Remember we make no charge for these presents. We are grateful to the people for their good will and make these presents out of pure gratitude.

We are the live, go-ahead merchants of the country, and have made it very warm for the high price houses since we have been with you. We have sold goods cheap but propose to keep hammering down the prices. Tax your memory and see if you did not pay more for goods before BASSETT & CO. came to Hopkinsville. Rich and poor treated alike. Everybody welcome. Our competitors complain but we please the people.

PRACTICAL REFORM.

The Collegiate Way of Getting Rid Keeping Rid of the Corset.
Mrs. Colonel Parker, of the Cook Con-

Normal College, is doing more to bring about a reformation in women's dress than all the societies, clubs, shops and lecturers for the promotion of dress reform in this State, says the Chicago Mail. An average of one hundred and fifty pupils—each come under her instruction every 5 years and some of the most valuable lessons taught these young women were in dreamed of by bookmakers; and as the percentage of the classes adopt the position of teacher her influence is immeasurable. The beauty of her instruction practically. She is one of the few preachers from their own practice.

At the Women's Club Mrs. Parker began the subject of dress orally. It is to say, with the use of statuettes, P and art models. I keep the ideal instantly before my girls, just as the one for a drawing lesson is held before class. More than that, I show them an unobtrusive way that I myself as apostle and make my habits comfortable ideal.

150 Handsome and Useful Presents!

ABSOLUTELY GIVEN AWAY!

The people of Hopkinstown and surrounding country have accorded us such a nice reception and such good support that we feel grateful to them and wish to express our gratitude in a practical way. We have laid awake at night trying to devise some plan by which we could give voice to our feelings without offence to our customers, and

This is How We Propose to do it:

Beginning Monday, December 5th, and continuing every day thereafter until Saturday, December 31st, 1887, each and every customer who makes a purchase will be presented with a ticket, plainly numbered, a duplicate of which will be placed in a locked box.

On Monday, January 2nd, 1888,

This box, after a thorough shaking up, will be opened in the presence of prominent citizens of Hopkinsville, and a boy, blindfolded, will take therefrom One Hundred and Fifty Tickets. The first ticket drawn (no matter whether it be 1, 3, 5, 600 or any other number) will entitle the holder to present No. 1; the second ticket drawn to present No. 2; and so on down to No. 150. Presents can be seen now in our display window, each one plainly designated by a number.

Customers making purchases of one dollar will receive one ticket, two dollars or more two tickets, three dollars or more three tickets—in other words, we give you a ticket with every purchase, and should that purchase exceed one dollar you will be presented with an extra ticket for each additional dollar which you spend with us. Remember we make no charge for these presents. We are grateful to the people for their good will and make these presents out of pure gratitude.

We are the live, go-ahead merchants of the county, and have made it very warm for the high price houses since we have been with you. We have sold goods cheap but propose to keep hammering down the prices. Tax your memory and see if you did not pay more for goods before BASSETT & CO. came to Hopkinsville. Rich and poor treated alike. Everybody welcome. Our competitors complain, but we please the people.

or making one second's mother made but still the sorrowing mother made daily search along the beach where baby had been wont to play, happily to find something which would at least a clue to the fate of the missing child.

One day, the third or fourth after the disappearance of the child, the mother found a little bundle of cloth, wet and torn by the waves, which contained the remains of her little one, who had been cast up by the sea during the night.

The little body was prepared for burial. The little house from which the body seemed to have fled with the last of child.

green of the family, and with awe as the mother told in the glowing light of the morning how the little sister snatched a moment from her mother's arms and fled from home and was drowned. The children grew up and married and had sons of their own, and the grandsons told again to a new set of auditors how little baby girl went out to play and was killed by the cruel sea.

Simple as the death of the child seemed at the time, it turns out to have been one of those mysteries of the sea, which only revealed by accident. A short time ago the sons of the old lady, a brother of the lost girl, picked up on a beach a piece of a large alabone which had been thrown up by the tide. He was attracted by the bright color of the shell, and as he turned the shell, he looked at the inside. He was astonished to find attached to the interior of the shell the perfect representation of a clog shoe. Even to the little break in the leather where the leather had worn away, detail was reproduced in the brilliant colors of the shell. The color of the inside of the alabone shell, after the break in the leather, was characteristic of the inside of the alabone shell.
